VISIONng assigns +87810 number management

On September 14, 2001 the International Telecommunication Union (“ITU”) appointed VISIONng as the repository and administrator of the “878-10” number block for Universal Personal Telecommunication (“UPT”) services.

At a general assembly held in Graz, Austria on July 24th 2007, VISIONng approved the assignment of the administration of the 87810 Universal Personal Telephony number range to Sentiro.

Proper administration of the “878-10” number block requires the provision of certain services, most notable of which are TIPHON/TISPAN Resolution Capabilities (“TRC”) services, number administration and real time call resolution services.

With an 87810 number, Operators can provide next-generation communication services by leveraging a new way of numbering for their telephony customers.

Single users can obtain numbers by going to www.enum2go.com

From the +87810 numbering space, operators can offer their customers next generation services - voice, data, email, SMS, web and location-based services - using a single "number for life" that transcends national boundaries and traditional ways of thinking about communications.

Sentiro can provide training and support services to help operators with their Tier 2 Service implementation and responsibilities.

About Sentiro Sentiro is a UK based Technology company offering telephone numbers and domain registration services.
