

The U.K. prepares for Enum

"This new service will be deployed in the U.K. from Q3" said Jay Daley CTO of Nominet at a recent presentation to industry experts. It will be provided by a channel of Registrars such as enum2go. Next generation networks, single users and many businesses including call centres, multi site organisations and large supply chains like Tesco will benefit enormously from using Enum.

Nominet also believes that Enum will become as commonly used as email, but with many more benefits for the user.

Please follow the link to see and hear the presentation